

Prevent, detect and respond to sophisticated endpoint attacks

Cyber attacks have evolved to a level of sophistication that can now bypass traditional endpoint protection. More than one-third of cyber attacks are now non-malware based. This means that companies need managed solutions that can overcome the stealthiest of threats, provide automatic protection and detection, and respond to known and unknown attacks that target their endpoints.

Secure your endpoints everywhere

Our Managed EDR is a next-generation endpoint security solution that provides 24/7 threat detection and response capabilities combined with top-rated machine learning and AI technologies delivered by an elite team of local experts. It gives you an easy-to-manage and efficient way to combat sophisticated attacks such as malware, exploits and ransomware with cutting edge technology and globally certified experts.

Automatic advanced threat detection

The HKT Managed EDR service can protect, detect and respond to sophisticated known, and unknown attacks automatically using machine learning and AI techniques from data collected at the endpoint.

Fast and precise targeted incident response

By combining the right technologies and expertise, we can investigate threats to a much deeper degree and accelerate targeted response actions to eliminate threats with speed and precision.

Proactive defense by globally trained experts

Our globally-certified, local experts proactively hunt for and validate potential threats before they harm your endpoints. You can enjoy peace of mind by off-loading the burden of managing your endpoints to us at a reasonable price right now.

Holistic security protection with Threat Management Services (TMS)

Our Next Generation Security Operations Center (NG SOC) continuously monitors and proactively identifies cyber threats and responds to incidents by managing not only your endpoints, but also other data collected from networks and cloud. We provide swift incident response and actionable recommendations to comply with regulations and ensure your enterprise enjoys professional security protection.

Reshape your endpoint security now!

Contact your HKT account manager or email us at cybersecurity@pcw.com for more details.

HKT Enterprise Solutions